India's Millions

Heavy and Waiting

Nation is Proud to Participate in the Wars of the Empire

Ten thousand delegates, representing all communities, were present at the opening of the annual meeting of the Indian National Congress at Bombay, which was notable for the loyal and patriotic utterances of the speakers.

"Millions in India are waiting to serve," was the keynote of the opening speeches.

In the presidential address Sir Satyendra Sinha said the supreme feeling in India was "adoration for the self-imposed burden England was bearing in the struggle for liberty and freedom and pride that India had proved herself not a wait behind the rest of the empire in the assistance given the mother country."

Continuing, Sir Satyendra expressed the hope that "the spontaneous outburst of loyalty had dispelled forever all distrust and suspicion between the Indians and their rulers." The speaker admitted that the time had not arrived for self government in India, but he urged the British government to approve ungrudgingly the goal to which India aspired and also to permit the recruiting of a strong national Indian army.

Trial is Inexpensive.—To those who suffer from dyspepsia, indigestion, rheumatism or any ailment arising from derangement of the digestive system, a trial of Parment's Vegetable Pills is recommended, should the sufferer be unacquainted with the remedy. The trial will be inexpensive and the result will be another customer for this excellent medicine. So effective is their action that many cures can certainly be traced to their use where other pills have proved ineffective.

A stranger alighted from a train at an Oklahoma town one day and hailed a man who wore the air of a native. "That I be," the man replied, "been here nigh onto 50 years."

"I am looking for a criminal lawyer," the new arrival continued. "Have you any here?"

"Well," answered the native slowly, "we think we have, but we can't prove it on him."

"What's the matter with Wilson?"

"He's all write."

Farmers Urge Plans For Period After War

Many Suggestions Made to New Commission on Development

Many suggestions connected with the future development of the Dominion, in an agricultural sense particularly, have been submitted to the Economic and Development Commission.

Farming organizations, asked to present their views on the various matters included in the scope of the inquiry, have done so in voluminous memoranda. They ask investigation particularly on the following points:

1. The collection and publication of accurate and reliable statistics relative to the agricultural production.

2. The inauguration of a comprehensive plan whereby farmers may obtain more readily and less extensively long and short term credits or carrying on farm operations.

3. The application of the principle of government control to public markets, stock yards, and like utilities, with a view to safeguarding both producers and consumers.

4. The whole question of co-operation in connection with production, marketing and consumption and the desirability of securing simple and uniform legislation for the establishment of co-operative societies.

5. The question of settling the vacant lands of Canada and the future policy respecting immigration and colonization. It is proposed to consider the possibility of returning Canadian and British soldiers to be afforded an opportunity of settling on the land. The commission invites the hearty co-operation of the Canadian public in the work it has in hand, and any person desiring to present written views or to appear personally will be afforded every reasonable opportunity of doing so. Headquarters are 21 Victoria Street, Ottawa.

Kidnapped a General

The Russian Used Austrian to Demonstrate With

A certain Russian general operating in Galicia decided he would attempt to escape the clutches of the Austrians. To this end, he issued most positive orders that, at all costs, a Cossack was to be taken prisoner and brought to him unharmed. The task he thus set his men was not an easy one, but, somehow or other, it was duly accomplished. A genuine live Cossack was one day produced in his presence.

The general, who was on horseback at the time, told his men to give their prisoner freedom of action, and then, without dismounting, watched him appease his hunger and thirst.

"You see," the general said, in effect, to his soldiers, "a Cossack eats and drinks just as you or I do. There is nothing superhuman about him." Next, the prisoner was ordered to walk about and talk. The general was interested to learn if the Cossack had a thorough object lesson and judge with their own eyes that a Cossack was really a man like themselves. Finally, a sword was put into the prisoner's hands, and he was told to show his audience how he used it.

The Cossack appeared to enter thoroughly into the spirit of the thing, and gave quite an interesting display. Everybody was highly entertained.

Meanwhile, the swordsmen had rapidly evolved a scheme of their own. After a time, his manoeuvring in such a manner as to get behind the general and suddenly leaped upon the horse, seized the general round the waist, gripped the horse's flanks firmly between his knees and, in a flash, was off with him, leaving the general dead in front of him.

The general was too stupefied to utter a sound. As for the soldiers, their first momentary impression was that this was part of the performance. By the time they had recovered their presence of mind, it was too late to do anything. The Cossack had held of the reins, and there was no stopping him.

To use their rifles was obviously out of the question, as they would have risked killing their own general. The groups of men encountered might have checked the animal's course, but none of them had seen the beginning of the affair, and they were unable to make head or tail of the strangely assorted couple. They simply stood aside and gave the flying horse free passage.

The Cossack did not draw rein until he had safely deposited his prisoner in the Russian lines. There the Austrian general had plenty of leisure to curse the day when the idea he had been so proud of had entered his head.

A recent official despatch from Petrograd says of those dardened cavalry regiments of Cossacks: "South-west of Pinsk our men made a brilliant dash into the German lines. They reached unseen the headquarters of the 82nd German Division, annihilated the guard, while two Generals (one commanding the division), a doctor, and three other officers were taken prisoners. The Germans being reinforced, our men retired."

Britannia is Still on the Job

New Yorker Tells How it is Sure Thing Germans Get None of Food Sent to the Belgians

"All this talk about money and food that is being given by Canada and the United States falling in the hands of the German people of the country is absolute foolishness," said a prominent man, who has been investigating conditions in Belgium.

"There is no doubt that the Germans would take this and everything they could get their hands on if they were permitted, but the Belgian Relief Commission is one of the best organized and most efficiently administered bodies that the world has ever known. Such a combination has never been seen before as this body of men and women working for the pleasure they get out of the work, and at the same time maintaining a state of efficiency that would make any so-called efficiency expert insanely jealous."

"To return to the possibility of seizure of food and clothing by the Germans, I want to mention just one thing that should be sufficient to dissipate all rumors or suspicions. Britannia Rules the Waves. Isn't that enough? If flour and wheat that Canada is sending to the Belgians were going to feed Germans, how long do you think these Belgian relief efforts would be permitted to continue? The British navy would be the first to take a hand."

"The Belgian Relief Committee guarantees that not an ounce of food sent from Canada goes into German mouths. That is why the plea for food by the Germans is a pure bluff. The British navy would be the first to take a hand."

Pain In The Back

Usually Comes from Muscular Rheumatism

Do not worry about a pain in the back. The worry will do you more harm than the pain. The cause of most backaches is muscular rheumatism, which is painful enough, but not fatal. Lumbago is a form of muscular rheumatism, so is a stiff neck. Sufferers from any form of rheumatism should keep their general health up to the highest standard by the use of a blood building tonic like Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, while taking good, nourishing food.

Proper nutrition and pure blood are the best means of fighting rheumatism. Rheumatism comes from an acid in the blood, build it up, strengthen the system, and drive out the poisonous acid that causes rheumatism. In this way sufferers have found every day recovery as shown by the following case: Mrs. Samuel Childhouse, Orillia, Ont., says: "About three years ago I was greatly afflicted with a severe pain in the back, which I thought at first was due to kidney trouble. I tried a number of remedies but they did not help me any. In fact the pain was growing worse, and got so bad that I was quite unable to do my housework. I could not even sweep a floor. I was advised to try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills and I am glad I acted upon the advice. Before I had taken the pills the pain long the pain began to subside, and under the continued use disappeared entirely, and I have not since been bothered with it in any way. My husband was also cured of a severe attack of indigestion by this same medicine so that we are both well and ready to be grateful for it."

You can get Dr. Williams' Pink Pills from any medicine dealer or by mail at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50 from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

Women as Farmers

May Have to Look After the Land in England

The necessity of replacing men's labor by that of women in agricultural occupations is engaging the attention of most people in England at the present moment. Lord Selborne, president of the board of agriculture, is a keen advocate of women taking the place of men on the land wherever possible.

In an address which he gave a few weeks ago at Shrewsbury, he said he had never seen a woman and a man body in England had ever seen—"a woman ploughing." "Women of every class," he declared, "must assist. The parson's wife, the wife and daughter of the laborer, each in turn could make a contribution to agriculture in that year of war, and so work for victory just as husband, son or brother, in the fleet or the trenches."

"I would make a special appeal to wives and daughters of men who are fighting, because they are well cared for by the nation. They have not seen grinding poverty whilst the men are left as are the German women in fighting the battles. It was not right that a woman in this country should live in greater luxury than she did before her husband or son went away to fight; she should do her part just as he men. She must go on the land, if the farmer asked her, at a fair wage, at a fair day's wage. This is a moment when each man and woman of every class must put forward that unselfishness and patriotism on which depends the fate of England."

Warts are unsightly blemishes, and corns are painful growths. Holloway's Corn Cure will remove them.

A Low-Down Trick

The varied and ingenious ways in which the Germans endeavor to lure our men to death are shown in the following story from the trenches, which was told to a newspaper representative.

"When the — Regiment took some German trenches in the big attack in September one of the soldiers saw a gold chain lying in the bottom of the newly-taken enemy trench. As he stooped to pick up his prize there was an ensuing detonation, and a part of the trench blew up."

The Germans had set a death-trap by mining the trench and fastening the chain as a decoy, so that if anyone pulled it the mine would explode.

The curious part of the story is that the man who inadvertently exploded the mine was not seriously injured.

He did not even lose the fatal trinket, which he has brought home to England.

Col. Roosevelt on National Existence

Discusses War in Relation to Moral and Social Values

A paper by Theodore Roosevelt on "Social Values and National Existence," furnished a theme for an animated discussion before the American Sociological Society at a recent session. It was read by Prof. Edward A. Ross, of the University of Wisconsin, president of the society.

"Infinitely the most important fact to be taken in connection with the war and militarism in relation to moral and social values," wrote Mr. Roosevelt, "is that if an unscrupulous, warlike and militaristic nation is not held in check by the warlike ability of a neighboring non-militaristic and well-to-do nation, then the latter will be spared the necessity of dealing with 'moral and social values' because it won't be allowed to deal with anything. It seems to me positively comic to fail to appreciate, with the example of Belgium before our eyes, that the very question which has many nations have to face is not how the militaristic or warlike spirit within their own borders will affect these 'values,' but how failure on their part to resist the militarism of an unscrupulous neighbor will affect them."

Mr. Roosevelt referred to medieval wars between nations and to modern China, Korea and Armenia to show what has happened to nations which applied practically the theories of the pacifists.

"In the thirteenth century," said his paper, "Persia had become a highly civilized nation, with a cultivated class of literate men and scholars, and with universities and great mercantile interests. These literary men and merchants took toward the realities of war much the same attitude that is taken in our own country by gentlemen of the stamp of Messrs. David Starr Jordan and Henry Ford."

Unfortunately for these predecessors of the modern pacifists, they were in striking distance of Genghis Khan and his Mongols, and, as of course invariably happens in such a case, when the onrush came the pacifists' theories were utterly smashed. With the Presidential campaign looming up, tariff issues are very much

SIGNS OF THE TIMES

"Made-in-Canada" Big Victory - Foreign advertising Cut Out

One of the best known trade papers in Canada has announced a significant change in its advertising policy in its November issue. The announcement is a matter of public interest, and we reproduce the following extract: "For years this paper has advocated the use of 'Made-in-Canada' hardware, and the advocacy by retailers of the Canadian Made line. We believe that there is no other way to build up a strong healthy national life in Canada as effective as the creation of a diversified manufacturing industry, as well as successful agricultural, lumbering and fishing industries. Last month we went a step further than ever before and announced that hereafter we would accept no new advertising contracts from any foreign manufacturer unless they start a branch plant in Canada. When we decided on this policy we expected it would meet a sacrifice, and our expectations have been realized. So far we have (1) refused to quote rates to a Boston advertiser; (2) held up a quarter page order until the United States firm involved starts its Canadian branch; (3) Lost a full page from a Canadian wholesale firm and (4) Lost half page from a Chicago advertiser. These losses simplify our problem, however.
We want to be the great advocate of "Canadian-Made" goods, and the more that anything to prevent that is removed the better."

CREAM AND BUTTER

Big Saskatchewan Creamery Appeals
to the Farmers

The home market is ever the big market for the mixed farmer. A thriving town with many shops and warehouses, factories with busy workers, and railway shops with the hum of activity about them, constitute a market for the food products the farmer has to sell.

While manufacturing industries have not developed much anywhere
in Canada in the past couple of years, the start which they received four or five years ago has been sufficient to create a heavy market in many Western cities and towns which are more than equal to the absorption of whatever products of mixed farming are available in the West. Instead of the farmer having to go after his market, the market comes after him as witness the following advertisement from well known Saskatchewan farm product recently:

1. Keep up your cream production, because prices will be high this fall and winter. Stocks of butter are very light, and with the winter trade opening, prospects for high prices are favorable.

2. Don't forget that prices for dairy butter are only high during the harvest season, and that cream prices
bring much better returns the year round.

3. Ship up your cream now and all ways. It is less trouble than churning, and cash is vastly better than cheques.

The farmer who is engaged in mixed farming will only reflect before he will agree to any big change in his trade policy which has resulted in bringing to his door a ready market for all he has to sell.

Buy an Irrigated Farm From The CANADIAN PACIFIC RAILWAY

BECAUSE:

Irrigation makes the farmer independent of rainfall, and insures good crops, not occasionally, but every year.

Irrigation makes possible the successful culture of alfalfa, the king of fodders, which insures best returns in dairying and mixed farming.

Irrigation means intensive farming and close settlement,
with all the advantages of a densely populated agricultural community.

Irrigation in the Canadian Pacific Railway Irrigation Block is no longer an experiment, the year 1914 having absolutely demonstrated its success wherever intelligently applied.

You can buy irrigated land from the Canadian Pacific Railway at prices ranging from $25 to $75 per acre, with twenty years to pay and the privilege of a loan of $2,000.00 for improvements (0% interest); no principal payment at end of first or second years; no water rental for first year. Assistance is also given in supplying stock in approved lots.

This is the most liberal offer of irrigated farm land on record. Get full particulars from

CANADA'S TRADE POLICY AND WAR CONTRACTS

Millions of dollars worth of munitions of war are now being manufactured in the industrial plants of Canada and more large orders for additional goods are on the way from the allies.

The wisdom and foresight of those who framed the National Policy and put it into effect has been strikingly justified from a military as well as from an economic standpoint. In time of war our factories are protected, our people are protected, as in times of peace they promoted national prosperity. If Free Trade had been allowed to put their policy into effect, happily making Canada an adjunct of the United States, their war orders would not now be placed in the factories of Montreal, Toronto, Hamilton, Winnipeg and many other Canadian cities but would be filled by the factories of Chicago, Buffalo and Philadelphia, upon which we would have been industrially dependent both in times of war as well as in times of peace. Protection has not only protected our industries and allowed them to exist and develop, but it is now enabling us to force weapons in our own country to protect ourselves from our enemies.

LOCAL AND GENERAL

Leap Year ball. Gentlemen free! what?

Mr. and Mrs. Sullivan of Calgary are visiting her mother Mrs. Arnold.

The ice harvest is now in full swing and a nice crop is being reaped.

The creamery is being stocked up with ice and soon the cream should be coming in.

Harry Barnes and George McLeod have enlisted with the 137th. Sorry for the Huns.

If you have anything to sell advise T. H. Beach at once that he may advertise it for his monthly sale on Saturday, Feb. 26.

The next Gleichen Women's Institute meeting will be held at the residence of Mrs. C. L. Farrow at 3 o'clock on Wednesday afternoon next, March 1st. The subject will be "Motherhood," and each member is requested to respond to roll call with a brief tribute to her mother. An excellent program has been arranged and it is hoped all members and friends will be present. All are invited to attend.

Constable Cairdman, of the R. N. W. M.P., did some excellent detective work last week and finally arrested Russell Hamilton, charged with desertion from the 137th battalion. He was taken from here to Calgary on Sunday by Captain Ritchie. Hamilton has been from Ontario, and was doing penitence for some military offence when he escaped. While in England he gave his name as Chris Ernest and said so here to buy horses.

Just arrived a large shipment of classy shoes, Slater brand, for the Hicks Trading Co.

F. W. Randall wrote the Call from Winnipeg that he was en route to Toronto, where he was called by a wire and would remain there about ten days, and will probably visit Boston, New York and Chicago before returning to Gleichen. He had just returned from a few weeks' trip to Seattle, Victoria, Vancouver and other western points when he received the urgent message to go east. He states that his information is that the development for Alberta this year will be very heavy.

A leap year ball is to be held in the Opera House on Tuesday evening, Feb. 29. The ladies are putting on this dance and promise one and all a highly profitable time during the evening. They are having special music and decorations and all money which is left over after expenses are paid will go to the Red Cross. The ladies are requested to bring a man but he must not be her own. For once the girls get in foot free while the ladies who bring a lunch will pay six-hits, those ladies who fail to bring a lunch will have to pay $1.25. Buffet luncheon will be served from 11.30 to 1 o'clock.

Chas. Marshall Writes Once More

Somewhere in France

Dear Joe:— You will think I was a double waiting you to write, and I am not answering any of your letters. But you know how it is with me, there are so many to write to, and they all expect me to write them, so I just have to scatter a letter here and there whenever I get a chance, and they are all read it.

Well, to start with I received your nice long letter, also a parcel from the bunch and I sure had some time to write to you to thank them all for me, for I sure won't be able to write them all.

Well, Joe, I can't give you much news from here as our correspondents are limited, but things are pretty much the same as when I first came here, except that it is getting livelier every day.

I was hiking along a road one evening, back of the firing line a short way, when a bunch of transport wagons passed by. They happened to be the transport that Cousin Jago is captain of. Just as they were passing I noticed some call out my name, and there was a little Jimmie Clark sitting in one of the wagons with a Scotch bonnet on his head. He had not been back off pass from Scotland. I had not time to say much to him, but he was looking fine. I also saw Cousin Walter who was riding behind.

I expect to get a pass to England any day now. It is my turn to get away. I will have six months in the trenches by Feb. 4th. The way I have been doing bullets this last couple of weeks has not been slow. I don't want to get hit before I go on pass.

The last time we were back for three weeks but we were sleeping in a big high barn for sleeping holes. In the middle of the night the floor gave away and let us drop to the ground floor in one quivering heap. It was pitch dark and we were piled ten deep along with blankets, rifles, equipment and packs. Some of the boys were hurt not little. I happened to be on top and managed to get a candle lit, and of all the funny sights you ever saw in your life, it was there. One fellow was buried all but one leg sticking up, he was yelling for someone to come and take something off his neck, we did not know where he was at first until he waved his free leg at us.

You might tell your dad to let Mr. Adams of the Alexandra Hotel know that one of his nephews was wounded the other day. I think it was Roy. He was hit through the wrist, but he had not been able to see his brother to know how serious the wound is.

Well, Joe, this letter will have to wait to his wife from the trench, he says, "This is the begining," and this is the end, it isn't half finished yet. I am sending you 10 francs, but not this time. If you do not get this letter write and let me know. I don't want to receive a letter from me before you write again as my letter writing is by jerks and when I write more news, and we don't get any too much spirit here.

Our aeroplanes are just going up and I must get out and see the light. With best wishes to all.

CHAS. R. MARSHALL.
